Front
Design Area

The diagram shows a large white rectangular area representing a design space. This area is enclosed by a blue border, which is the safety line. Outside the blue border, there is a red border, which is the cut line. The text in the top left corner explains the dimensions and requirements for each line: the bleed size (5.25" x 7.25") extends to the edges of the page, the cut line (5" x 7") is the final size after trimming, and the safety line (4.75" x 6.75") is where all text must be contained. The text 'Front Design Area' is centered in the white space.
