Email, user notifications

This journey is intended for use with Customer Intelligence Life Event insights for a new divorce. Two emails are sent to the contacts within the household. An initial user notification is sent when the insight is received alerting the contact owner that the contact has started the journey and encouraging an informal check in. An email is sent to the contact offering a free mortgage check up due to life changes. If the contact clicks a link during the journey, a second generic “link clicked” user notification is sent. Contacts are offboarded when a new mortgage loan (refi or purchase) is created, or after the journey concludes.

All communications should be reviewed prior to initiating the journey.*

CI: Life Events – Divorce (Mortgage)

Hi Teddy,

Life happens. If your financial situation has changed or unforeseen events are causing you to re-think your finances, I'd like to offer you a complimentary mortgage check-up. You may benefit from one of these options:

Refinancing to a lower interest rate or different mortgage product. If you would like to adjust your monthly payments, let's look into changing your loan's term.

Equity-based lending solutions with competitive interest rates. For example, your financial situation may improve with a home equity line of credit (HELOC) or a home equity loan. These products provide funds for home improvements, debt consolidation, or other financial goals.

Best regards,
